The War Today...

By DeWitt MacKenzie

ALL ALLIED peoples have taken to measuring progress against the Germans in terms of the distance our armies are from Berlin—an understandable calculation although not sound militarily, because it isn't the mileage that counts but the obstacles between you and your goal.

That's the way we figure it, and we now are near enough to Wilhelmstrasse so that thoughts of enemy capitulation naturally are in our minds—though here again we have a somewhat faulty premise, since the capture of Berlin wouldn't necessarily end the war. What may we expect to find inside Germany when the enemy finally says he's had enough?

A glance behind the curtain is rather appalling, for the bloody coup de grace which the Allies are in process of administering is merely a gatecrasher into an administrative problem which has no parallel in history.

We start with the circumstance that the Reich, which has given one of the world's great powers, will have no government to which the United Nations can assign the task of administering (under Allied military control) the highly complicated affairs of some 80,000,000 people.

Since one of our chief aims is the utter destruction of the Nazi regime, we are hardly likely to entrust affairs to its officials. Anyway, power is concentrated in the hands of Hitler (if he still lives) and his captives, and all these criminals presumably will be under lock and key.

This presents a situation unique in our time. When the Allies defeated Germany in the last war, there was a government ready to administer the affairs of the country. Naturally another government will follow the Hitler regime in due course. But the early days of the Allied occupation are likely to be hellish.

The Allied military authorities will have to look after millions of civilians whose homes have been destroyed, who lack the necessities of life and who have no immediate prospect of employment. The countless thousands of surrendering German soldiers, many of whom are

ALLIES RULE ON WESTERN FRONT TODAY

Hold Initiative First Time In Years; Rorer Picture Improves

By JAMES M. LONG
PARIS, Jan. 27.—U. S. Third army troops striking on a 20-mile front in Luxembourg and Belgium gained up to three miles today and reached the Our river barrier to Germany.

The Third's roll-up to the river frontier, wiping out vestiges of the Ardennes bulge, came as the American Ninth and British Second armies in the north consolidated their hold along the west bank of the Roer river inside Germany within 25 miles of Dusseldorf.

Allied troops held the initiative all along the Western front. American 90th division patrols reached the Our river at a point four and one-half miles northeast of Clervaux in northern Luxembourg, a front dispatch said. They met no resistance. Troops of the 17th Airborne division punched forward three miles at a point seven miles below St. Vith.

They and three other divisions were astride or across the "Skyline drive" highway running north to St. Vith on a ridge overlooking the Our and the Germans' Siegfried line guarding the Reich. The 26th division drove ahead two and one-half miles above Wiltz. The Third army bagged 581 prisoners yesterday.

Breach Is Extended

The U. S. Ninth and British Second armies held the Roer river bank from Roermond to Monschau, 19 miles southeast of Aachen, and had widened the only breach in the Siegfried line to 35 miles.

Russia's offensives were being felt increasingly on the snowbound Western front, as witnessed by the Nazi withdrawal to the Roer river and the halt to German attacks in Alsace.

From the second straight day pilots reported a steady flow of heavy rail traffic east and northeast from the Ruhr region. This possibly was linked with the mounting menace to Germany in the east.

Allied planes battered again Friday at Nazi rail and road transport, and RAF Tactical Air Force planes in 150 sorties destroyed 13 locomotives and damaged 18, wrecked or damaged 150 railway cars, and 26 road vehicles.

Snowdrifts hampered Allied armies, and fog overhung the Alsace plain where the 79th division of the U. S. Seventh army had rubbed out the last German bridgehead over the Moselle river west of Haguenau.

Tokyo Reports New Raid By Superforts

(By Associated Press)
Japanese imperial headquarters announced in a communique today that about 70 Marianas-based B-29s raided Tokyo for approximately an hour this afternoon, dropping high explosive bombs and incendiaries that caused damage "at several places" and started fires which were not controlled until dusk.

The raiders, according to the communique recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, did no damage to "important industrial plants."

The Japanese-controlled radio in Saigon, Indo-China, asserted that the Saigon-Cholon area in southern Indo-China was bombed in the "late morning." "Some material damage was caused" and "20 dead and 200 wounded" had been counted at Cholon, the broadcast said.

The 20th Air Force earlier announced India-based B-29s attacked Indo-China. The Tokyo raid also was confirmed at 20th Air Force headquarters in Washington.

3 VETERAN FLIERS KILLED IN CRASH

ROMULUS, Mich., Jan. 27.—Three veteran Army fliers were killed last night in the crash of a cargo plane at Belle Center, Ohio.

Headquarters of the Third Ferrying group here said they were Capt. James W. Hartzog, 26, Lexington, N. C., the pilot; Second Lt. Francis F. Munchrath, 25, Council Bluffs, Iowa, co-pilot, and Master Sgt. Jacob Oswald, 26, Kalamazoo, Mich., engineer.

Stenger was taken to Salem City hospital. His condition is reported as good.

Senate Vote On Wallace Due Monday

Fate Uncertain Following Commerce Committee's Negative Step

BY JACK BELL
WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Henry A. Wallace's cabinet nomination goes to an uncertain fate in the senate Monday, bearing a "rejected" label from the senate commerce committee.

In the face of this unprecedented action, friends moved swiftly today in an effort to salvage a commerce portfolio without lending authority for the 56-year-old Iowan who stepped down from the vice presidency a week ago.

Senators Lucas (D-Ill.) and Maybank (D-NB), Wallace backers announced support for a committee-approved bill, offered by Sen. George (D-Ga.), to separate from the Commerce department the vast money-dispensing agencies built around the Reconstruction Finance Corp., which Jesse Jones managed for 12 years.

Sen. Pepper (D-Fla.), generalissimo of the former vice president's forces, virtually conceded the bill would pass. He said there would be no objections to its consideration before the nomination is brought up.

Behind Closed Doors

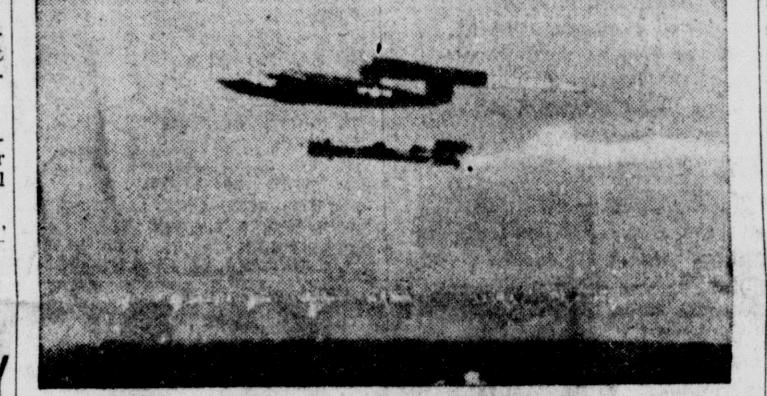

The inference was plain that he and others thought Wallace might be confirmed if the senate had some assurance the monetary powers would not go along with the cabinet job from which the President fired Jones.

Behind closed doors, the committee members voted 14 to 5 against a motion to report Wallace's nomination favorably.

The roll call: For—Senators Overton (La), Bilbo (Miss), Mead (NY), Pepper (Fla) and Magnuson (Wash.), all Democrats.

Against—Senators Bailey (D-NC).

Federal Judge Rules Army Seizure Of Ward Co. Illegal

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—Army seizure of Montgomery Ward and Co. properties on order of President Roosevelt was declared illegal today by Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan who said "it is with considerable reluctance that I have arrived at the conclusions in this case."

Ruling on a case which the government said affected the nation's entire wartime labor dispute settlement machinery, Judge Sullivan asserted:

"Our nation is engaged in a global war and it is imperative that we contribute everything we have to insure its speedy and successful conclusion."

"Our country is in a great crisis and our liberty and very existence are at stake. So deeply do I feel on this subject that I believe it is not too much to expect that for the duration employers, employees and unions on the home front should make a determined effort to adjust their labor disagreements without resorting to strikes and lockouts."

"Selfishness, arrogance, intolerance of the rights of others, self interest and unwillingness should, during this emergency be all subordinated for the common good."

"The peacetime privilege of engaging in prolonged labor disputes should be voluntarily suspended for the duration. A tribunal has been established to accomplish peaceful settlement of labor disputes during the war emergency."

In declaring the army seizure of 16 properties of the huge mail order concern on Dec. 28 was illegal, Judge Sullivan asserted:

"I am of the opinion that the President was without authority, either under section 3 of the War Labor Disputes act, or under the war powers conferred upon him by the constitution as commander in chief of the Army and Navy to take possession of the plants and facilities of Montgomery Ward and Co." the court asserted.

The decision in the case which the government said affected the nation's entire wartime labor dispute settlement machinery dismissed the government petition for a judgment to uphold legality of the seizure and for an injunction to restrain Ward's officials from interfering with Army operations.

Judge Sullivan's opinion in the case which developed out of Ward's refusal to obey War Labor board directives in a long standing labor dispute said that "if dispirited are not willing to obey the recommendations of the war labor board, which are admittedly only advisory, then Congress alone is the only branch of the government which can compel them to do so."

"It is the duty of Congress to enact the laws, and the duty of the courts to interpret them," he said.

Soviets Fight For New Path Toward Berlin

(By The Associated Press)
LONDON, Jan. 27.—About 200,000 Nazis trapped in East Prussia today faced destruction, while the Red army fought for invasion routes through Brandenburg to Berlin on the 16th day of the Russian offensive that has cost the Germans 381,300 killed and captured.

The Russians were reported throwing fresh troops into the gigantic drive through central Poland, and Moscow dispatches said the Nazis were carrying out a gigantic shift of troops from the Western to the Eastern front.

Military security hid the exact location of the advancing units of Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's First White Russian army but a Stockholm dispatch put them 98 miles from Berlin. The German radio has said they were at the Brandenburg frontier.

Another Berlin broadcast claimed the situation was "beginning to consolidate," but other Nazi commentators conceded further Russian gains. A triumphant Moscow radio broadcast said the eastern wall "has broken down and under its rubble lie the Wehrmacht's best divisions."

Cross Oder River

All along the Silesian frontier the Germans conceded Russian troops had crossed the Oder in great force.

Marsial K. K. Rokossovsky's Third White Russian army split East Prussia from Germany proper yesterday when spearheads drove to the Danzig bay area.

The First White Russian army driving through central Poland was outflanking Poznan with twin columns traveling at a speed which may well have taken them close to the frontiers of Brandenburg province. The Brandenburg border at its closest point is 91 miles from Berlin.

A Stockholm dispatch early today quoted a German news agency as saying Red forces were threatening the towns of Bentschen, Driesen and Schneidemuhl, all in Brandenburg.

Moscow placed the nearest approach to Berlin at 136 miles with the capture of Mosina, 10 miles south of Poznan. North of Poznan, the Russians took Rogoznica province. Other Soviet forces striking up through northern Silesia beyond besieged Breslau were only 143 miles from Berlin.

Hindenburg Falls

These troops of Marshal Ivan S. Konev's First Ukrainian army have tightened the siege arc on Breslau. The Germans have reported crossings of the Oder river north and south of that northern Silesian capital.

Other First Ukraine army units yesterday toppled Hindenburg in upper Silesia, a mining and industrial center of 126,000.

The Russian communique disclosed that 960 more localities were captured yesterday as Soviet forces drove within eight miles of Koenigsberg, East Prussian capital, from the east, and within two miles of Torun, big Polish communications center on the Vistula river at the southern entrance of the Polish corridor, below Danzig.

The German home radio announced the evacuation of civilians from Danzig and the Polish corridor.

Neighbors Find Lisbon Farmer Dead At Home

LISBON, Jan. 27.—Neighboring farmers found Joseph Hoffman, 70, dead in bed Friday morning when they pried open a window and entered his home about four miles southwest of Lisbon.

Neighbors said that he had not been seen since the first of the year and a letter in the box bore a Jan. 23 postmark. The letter was from a son, Andrew, apparently from Pittsburgh, and detectives there are attempting to locate him.

The body, frozen, was well preserved.

Three Trainmen Injured

CLEVELAND, Jan. 27.—Three New York Central system trainmen were reported in fair condition today from injuries suffered when a mail train and an electric locomotive collided.

They are Richard Ruhling, 60, of Erie, Pa., mail train engineer; Fireman R. S. Skelton, 48, of Buffalo, N. Y., and the electric fireman, Edward Saxe, 40, of Cleveland.

A. B. Croiser, chief train dispatcher, reported both locomotives and the five-car mail train were derailed when the electric engine sideswiped the westbound mail here.

PRESUME SALEM MAN SHOT AFTER GERMAN CAPTURE

Mrs. Esther Tetlow Miller of Washingtonville yesterday was notified by the War department that her husband, Second Lieut. William Miller, 31, was taken prisoner by the Germans in Luxembourg on Dec. 20 and killed on Dec. 23.

The Salem officer presumably was executed by the Nazis after they held him prisoner for three days. He was previously reported missing from his unit in Luxembourg on Dec. 20.

Holder of the Infantry Combat medal and two Bronze stars, Lieut. Miller had been in the service since October, 1942, and overseas since Aug. 5.

Sergt. Guappone, 20, Wounded In Action

Sergt. Salvatore "Tut" Guappone, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Guappone, 961 E. Third st., was wounded in action in Belgium on Jan. 9, his family learned Thursday.

Overseas since November, Sergt. Guappone is now being treated in a hospital in France, the family was informed. No details of the seriousness of the injuries were given. Sergt. Guappone entered the service a year ago.

A former basketball star at Salem High school and active in Memorial building basketball and softball leagues, Sergt. Guappone graduated from Salem High in 1942. He was a student at Ohio university and an employee of the Deming Co. before entering service.

Carry Draft Cards At All Times, Is Warning

Selective Service headquarters appeared today to registrants to carry both their draft classification and registration cards at all times.

Failure to carry both cards has complicated contacts for workers at federal employment agencies and private firms, it was explained. Persons losing cards should apply immediately to their local boards for duplicates, officials urged.

Failure to carry the cards at all times makes registrants subject to a maximum fine of $5,000 and a five-year prison sentence.

PENDERGAST DEAD IN KANSAS CITY

(By Associated Press)
KANSAS CITY, Jan. 27.—Thomas J. Pendergast, 72, former powerful Democratic boss of Kansas City and Missouri who served a year in federal prison for income tax evasion, died last night of heart disease.

"Big Tom," as he was known, entered a hospital last Tuesday. He had suffered a heart ailment and complications since 1936.

Pendergast reached the height of his power in 1932 when his huge majorities in Jackson county helped elect a governor and 13 congressmen-at-large and in 1934 when he successfully backed the little known Harry S. Truman, now vice president of the United States, for senator.

The stocky political chieftain took over the reins of the First ward Democratic organization on Kansas City's river front in 1911, and extended his power over the city, then Jackson county and finally over the state. Vote fraud trials disclosed 80,000 ghost votes in the 1936 election.

In May, 1939, he was sentenced to 15 months in federal prison after he had pleaded guilty to income tax evasion. The government charged he had received a $315,000 payoff in fraudulent settlement of a Missouri fire insurance rate case under which four-fifths of $9,500,000 impounded funds had been returned to the companies in 1935, and this year the government alleged Pendergast had lost $2,000,000 on horse races and lost $600,000.

Barred under the terms of his probation from engaging in any political activity for five years, Pendergast had, since his release from the penitentiary in 1940, lived quietly at his palatial home.

HOLDUP DEFENDANT DENIES GUN CHARGE

LISBON, Jan. 27.—Robert E. Smith of Pittsburgh, who robbed the Household Finance Co. in East Liverpool Nov. 18, entered a plea of not guilty to armed robbery and offered to plead guilty to a charge of robbery in common pleas court Friday.

Smith contends that while the gun contained a shell he did not release the safety catch and could not have discharged the weapon. Sheriff George Hayes will take the prisoner to Pennsylvania next week to confer with officials there. Smith's wife has made partial restitution of funds stolen in a series of robberies in that state, testimony shows, and an effort is being made for a settlement with those authorities to pave the way for a sentence or probationary period here.

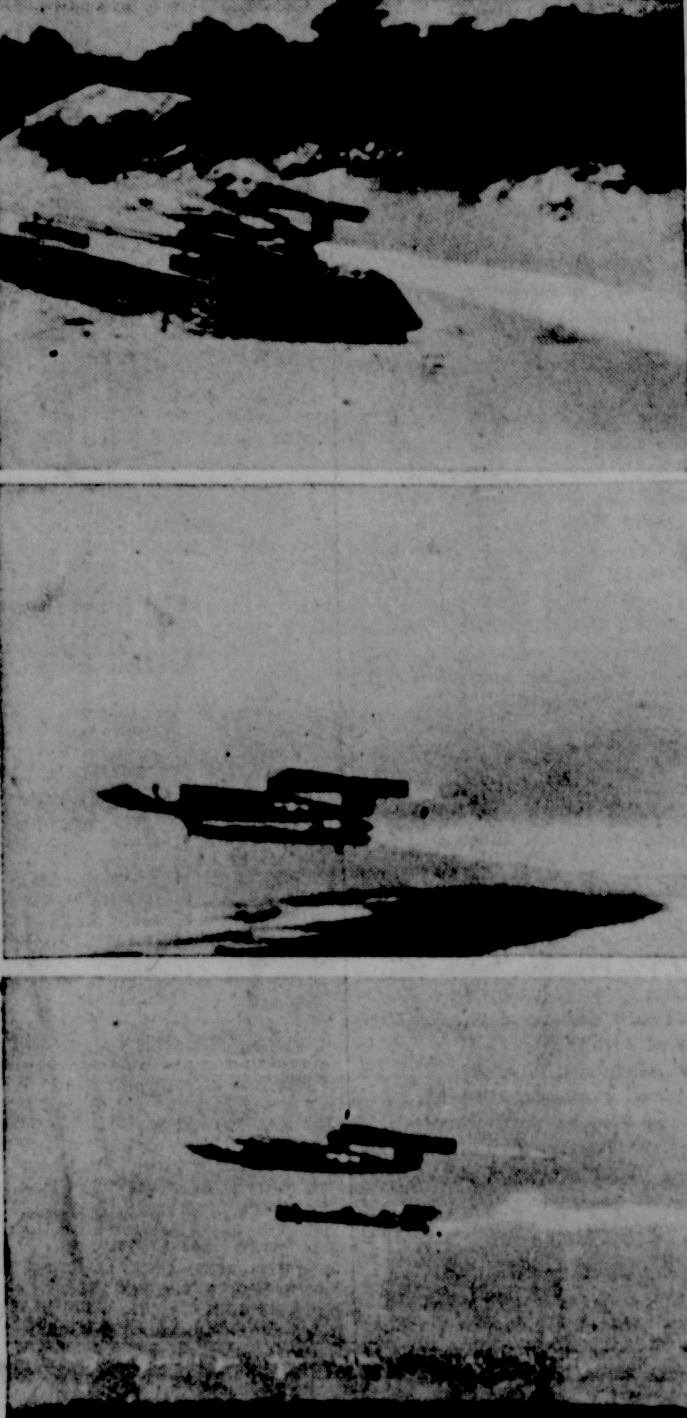

Smith is wanted in Greensborough and Beaver for alleged robberies.

Both of Smith's former employers, who paid him a total of $400 per month and expenses, testified that they would release him if the court would release him on probation. He is held under $10,000 bond.

Police Probe New Garage Burglaries

Two more Salem garages were ransacked last night, bringing the total to nine similar crimes within the last month.

The Don Stirling garage, 485 W. State st., was entered last night and $13 and a few gasoline coupons stolen from the cash register after the burglars had gained entrance by prying open the large front doors.

The Beall Battery & Electric Service garage at 136 Penn. ave., was entered sometime during the night but the thieves failed to realize any loot for their trouble. Entrance was made by smashing a window in the south side of the building.

The two new crimes are believed by police to be more of a series of juvenile pranks. To date nine breaking and entering reports have been filed this month. Six youths, three of them juveniles, have been apprehended this week on similar charges, but police believe more of the youthful ring are still operating.

Henry Theodore Sobolewski, 18, of W. Wilson st., arrested Thursday night on a charge of breaking and entering the Grover Service station, W. State st., on Jan. 20, pleaded guilty to charges of larceny and burglary yesterday in mayor's court.

He was bound over, on $2,000 bond, to the grand jury. Two other youths, John Paul Kistler, 20, of W. Wilson st., and Richard Slosser, 18, of Alliance, were held on similar charges Wednesday.

Cross Oder River
All along the Silesian frontier the Germans conceded Russian troops had crossed the Oder in great force.

Marschal K. K. Rokossovsky's Third White Russian army split East Prussia from Germany proper yesterday when spearheads drove to the Danzig bay area.

The First White Russian army driving through central Poland was outflanking Poznan with twin columns traveling at a speed which may well have taken them close to the frontiers of Brandenburg province. The Brandenburg border at its closest point is 91 miles from Berlin.

A Stockholm dispatch early today quoted a German news agency as saying Red forces were threatening the towns of Bentzen, Driesen and Schneidemuhl, all in Brandenburg.

Moscow placed the nearest approach to Berlin at 136 miles with the capture of Mohna, 10 miles south of Poznan. North of Poznan, the Russians took Rogozno.

Other Soviet forces striking up through northern Silesia beyond besieged Breslau were only 143 miles from Berlin.

Hindenburg Falls
These troops of Marshal Ivan S. Konev's First Ukrainian army have tightened the siege on Breslau. The Germans have reported crossings of the Oder river north and south of that northern Silesian capital.

Other First Ukraine army units yesterday toppled Hindenburg in upper Silesia, a mining and industrial center of 126,000.

The Russian communique disclosed that 960 more localities were captured yesterday as Soviet forces drove within eight miles of Koenigsberg, East Prussian capital, from the east, and within two miles of Torun, big Polish communications center on the Vistula river at the southern entrance of the Polish corridor, below Danzig.

The German home radio announced the evacuation of civilians from Danzig and the Polish corridor.

The body, frozen, was well preserved.

Carry Draft Cards At All Times, Is Warning

Selective Service headquarters appeal today to registrants to carry both their draft classification and registration cards at all times.

Failure to carry both cards has complicated contacts for workers at federal employment agencies and private firms, it was explained. Persons losing cards should apply immediately to their local boards for duplicates, officials urged.

Failure to carry the cards at all times makes registrants subject to a maximum fine of $5,000 and a five-year prison sentence.

Consent of the Governed

If most Americans did not believe President Roosevelt as their spokesman in international parleys intended to represent them to the best of his ability, there would be no basis for his part in negotiations.

His words are without meaning, except as they reflect what his countrymen are thinking. In America, foreign policy stems from the morals of the people, not from the personalities of politicians. That is sometimes an apparent handicap; it puts a low value on personal decisions. But for the long pull, it is a source of strength. Once convinced that a spokesman for the United States is reflecting popular opinion, no foreign diplomat can doubt the solidity of the American position. By the same token, once convinced that the opposite is true, no careful statesman representing a foreign government is going to be coaxed into a false assumption about America.

Thus, the responsibility of any President in making foreign policy decisions is to discover what the bulk of public opinion favors. It is not easy, but it is not impossible. There is good reason to believe Mr. Roosevelt has made up his mind, and there is good reason to believe his judgment is correct.

The United States cannot be bound to any international commitment that threatens to deliver human beings into political control that denies them reasonable privileges of self-determination. In its simplest form of statement, the foreign policy of the United States consists of one phrase in the Declaration of Independence—"Governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed."

That was a revolutionary thought when it was promulgated in 1776. It is still a revolutionary thought in 1945. Americans believed then and they believe now that its denial has been the root of most political trouble. They can say to the compromisers, the deceivers and all others who violate this fundamental principle only that they, themselves, cannot violate it without being false to themselves.

If President Roosevelt remembers that, his decisions in behalf of the republic which grew up in the new world to rise above the demonstrated inability of the old world to offer the greatest good to the greatest number cannot be challenged. There could still be room for disagreement over innumerable details, but none for challenge of ultimate intent. There is no promise in the future brighter than the promise of the growth of freedom, not even the promise of cooperative security and the absence of war, if the latter must be sought through appeasement in violation of American principles.

Diversionary Tactics

The fight over Henry A. Wallace's presidential appointment to be secretary of commerce has developed into a swirl of diversionary tactics to keep the opposition off balance.

The first feint was the senatorial proposal to take RFC out of the Commerce department, which would have left Wallace high and dry with no apparent financial power. It was smoothly countered with Mr. Wallace's proposal to investigate the operation of RFC under Jesse Jones, who has outspokenly questioned Mr. Wallace's ability to succeed him as chief overseer of that agency and secretary of the department of commerce.

These subordinate maneuvers are interesting, but they are not the main action in this showdown battle. For reasons that remain vague and in a manner that is hard to understand, the political symbol of the CIO-PAC has been headed toward a key position controlling more of the nation's post-war economic destiny than any other spot in Washington. Under a secretary so inclined and backed by an administration so inclined, the department of commerce, plus the RFC, either as part of the department, or as an independent agency in sympathetic hands, could be made a federal department of planned economy. Mr. Wallace and his backers and Mr. Jones and his backers are not fighting for peanuts or mere personal prestige. They are locked in a showdown grapple for economic control, and don't let the diversionary tactics fool you.

Rendezvous At Berchtesgaden

Most fascinating war rumor of the week has officials of the Hitler regime moving from Berlin to Berchtesgaden with government records. It may not be true, but it fits in with previous reports of massive fortifications erected in the vicinity of Hitler's retreat—and with the widely held belief that the high officials of the party would prefer to end their adventure in power in some spectacular manner that would give them assurance of martyrdom.

Actually, it is too soon to be leaving Berlin. The Russians are more than 100 miles from Berlin, and even the most hopeful authorities doubt they will be able to sustain their offensive without at least a brief interval for regrouping and resupplying. On the western front, though, there is fresh evidence that the Allies hope to match Russia's winter offensive with a powerful blow of their own, nothing sensational has happened yet.

But of course no one outside Germany these days knows what some of the Germans inside Germany know. That is why the Berchtesgaden rumor is the week's prize. It should not be difficult to make certain that if the Nazis chosen for martyrdom do hole up in that mountain fastness they never can escape. They should be left there to glare at each other and, in the course of time, to settle their feuds. It would settle the question of what to do with them. In due course of time they would dispose of each other.

The Stars Say

For Sunday, January 28

SUNDAY'S horoscope encourages the ambitions, aspirations and usual activities of the day, in reaching pleasant, profitable and honored place in professional, educational, ecclesiastical and social associations. The expansive and inspiring influence or determining major influences should assist to such worthy and desirable objectives, although all extravagances of substance and forces should be conserved. Popularity, social and affectional happiness are indicated.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of outstanding success, with promotion and prestige enhanced, possibly because of meritorious effort in the development of worthwhile or out-of-the-ordinary propositions or perhaps dramatic adventures. In this, substantial support may be looked for from those in power.

A child born on this day will have much talent, efficiency and high ambitions, winning the support and approbation of superiors. Despite extravagance and over-generosity, it will enjoy a happy and useful career.

For Monday, January 29

MONDAY'S astrological forecast holds rather conflicting auguries, although there are indications of much progress and initiative in the direction of attaining the most cherished aims and aspirations. It will be necessary, however, to adhere rigidly to the codes of public and private rules and regulations definitely considered and also a sensible conservation of the funds, assets as well as social and physical resources. Beware subtlety.

Those whose birthday it is may continue in the pathways of progress and productiveness, with enhanced prospects and preferment, with favors from influential personages, despite certain undercurrents that bear scrutiny. Keep strictly to rules and regulations, to responsibilities and duties, shunning all urges to splurge or over indulge in pleasures or intriguing ventures.

A child born on this day has much ability, with ambition and the expansive plans and efficiency to put them over, if it will refrain from plunging, "hunches" and excessive indulgence in personal and business affairs.

Choice of a Secretary

The liberal New York daily PM says, "President Roosevelt has again advised labor leaders that they can have a new secretary of labor as soon as they can agree on someone acceptable to both the AFL and the CIO."

We rather hope that all parties concerned with labor, and not just the two biggest associations of unions, will "have" a new secretary if and when one is appointed. Certainly the choice should be a person conversant with labor's problems, but it hardly seems that the choice should be entirely up to Messrs. Green and Murray.

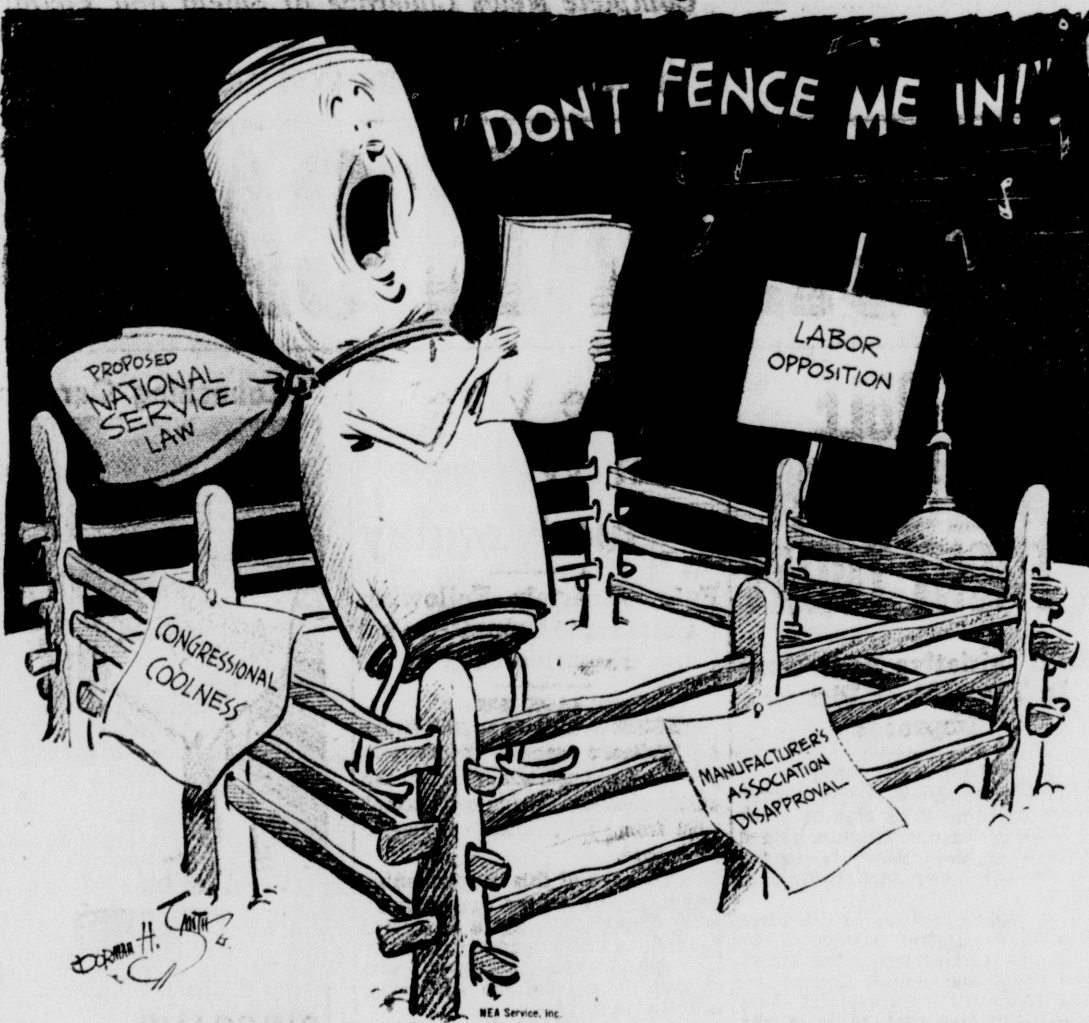

A cabinet officer is an assistant and advisor to the President, and partakes of some delegated powers of the President, who is the chief executive of the government and all its people.

We can imagine the stir in liberal circles if the President chose a secretary of commerce on the basis of his acceptability to the National Association of Manufacturers and the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Six dancers collapsed on a Paris stage because of cold due to the coal shortage. The show turned out to be a frost.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Some Exercises For the Invalid

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

SOME WEEKS ago I wrote that I supposed some day some genius would invent a group of exercises that could be performed by a sick person in bed or in a chair. I thoroughly deserved to be called town for this and am grateful to report that I have been. For the genius had already appeared in the person of my friend and former teacher, Dr. Edward H. Ochsner, of Chicago, who published a little manual of "Exercises for Invalids and Convalescents" over twenty-five years ago.

It is of great value to the invalid who is confined to bed for a long time, but who is not really sick—for instance, the fellow with a broken leg, to have something that is the equivalent in part, at least, of the exercise of the muscles that we all have as part of our daily routine.

Exercise Every Day

I suppose everyone takes some exercise every day deliberately. But we get also a good deal of unconscious exercise. You get up in the morning and go through the ritual of the bath, followed by motions with the towel that really exercise every muscle in your body. You move from chair to chair, to this part or other of the house. You walk to the bank or to lunch. You go to the movies and stand up and sit down four or five times. And so on.

These are the activities of a sedentary person, but even of these the fellow flat on his back with a broken leg is deprived. And, as a consequence, unless an effort is made to make him use his muscles he gets up weak and almost paralyzed.

Simple, Not Too Exhausting Exercises for such invalids and convalescents should be simple, not too exhausting and capable of being performed without apparatus.

Heading the list for the person in bed or confined to a chair are breathing exercises. Many persons have never learned to breathe properly. This is true especially of those persons who have never engaged in strenuous physical labor. Such persons are very likely to use only the upper portion of their lungs in breathing—the type known as "chest breathing." These persons rarely use their diaphragms and abdominal muscles in breathing at all and for that reason do not properly fill the lower portion of their lungs with an degree of regularity.

In order to breathe properly, the lower portion of the lungs should be first filled with air. If one has accustomed himself to faulty breathing, it is sometimes rather difficult to learn the right method. One of the easiest ways to learn this correctly is to stand bare-chested, or sit if necessity demands, before a large mirror, then by bringing the abdominal muscles outward and later the chest above one will be able to fill the lungs completely. This exercise should be done several times a day in front of a mirror until the right method has been correctly learned and established as a habit.

Other simple exercises described by Dr. Ochsner which can be performed even in bed are: Stand or sit erect, heels together, breathe naturally through nose. Right hand pressed on chest, push out horizontally forward, steadily and vigorously as far as you can. Draw back to chest vigorously. Repeat five times with each arm.

Raise leg to horizontal with knee bent at first, then straighten knee. Repeat with alternate leg 5 times each.

Close fists on chest. Raise arms upward as far as possible, return to first position. Repeat five times. Stand, or sit erect. Rotate head from right to left five times, making as large a circle as possible

Repeat in opposite direction five times each.

The Stars Say

For Sunday, January 28

SUNDAY'S horoscope encourages the ambitions, aspirations and usual activities of the day, in reaching pleasant, profitable and honored place in professional, educational, ecclesiastical and social associations. The expansive and inspiring influence or determining major influences should assist to such worthy and desirable objectives, although all extravagances of substance and forces should be conserved. Popularity, social and affectional happiness are indicated.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of outstanding success, with promotion and prestige enhanced, possibly because of meritorious effort in the development of worthwhile or out-of-the-ordinary propositions or perhaps dramatic adventures. In this substantial support may be looked for from those in power.

A child born on this day will have much talent, efficiency and high ambitions, winning the support and approbation of superiors. Despite extravagance and over-generosity, it will enjoy a happy and useful career.

For Monday, January 29

MONDAY'S astrological forecast holds rather conflicting auguries, although there are indications of much progress and initiative in the direction of attaining the most cherished aims and aspirations. It will be necessary, however, to adhere rigidly to the codes of public and private rules and regulations definitely considered and also a sensible conservation of the funds, assets as well as social and physical resources. Beware subtlety.

Those whose birthday it is may continue in the pathways of progress and productiveness, with enhanced prospects and preferment, with favors from influential personages, despite certain undercurrents that bear scrutiny. Keep strictly to rules and regulations, to responsibilities and duties, shunning all urges to splurge or over indulge in pleasures or intriguing ventures.

A child born on this day has much ability, with ambition and the expansive plans and efficiency to put them over, if it will refrain from plunging, "hunches" and excessive indulgence in personal and business affairs.

Choice of a Secretary

The liberal New York daily PM says, "President Roosevelt has again advised labor leaders that they can have a new secretary of labor as soon as they can agree on someone acceptable to both the AFL and the CIO."

We rather hope that all parties concerned with labor, and not just the two biggest associations of unions, will "have" a new secretary if and when one is appointed. Certainly the choice should be a person conversant with labor's problems, but it hardly seems that the choice should be entirely up to Messrs. Green and Murray.

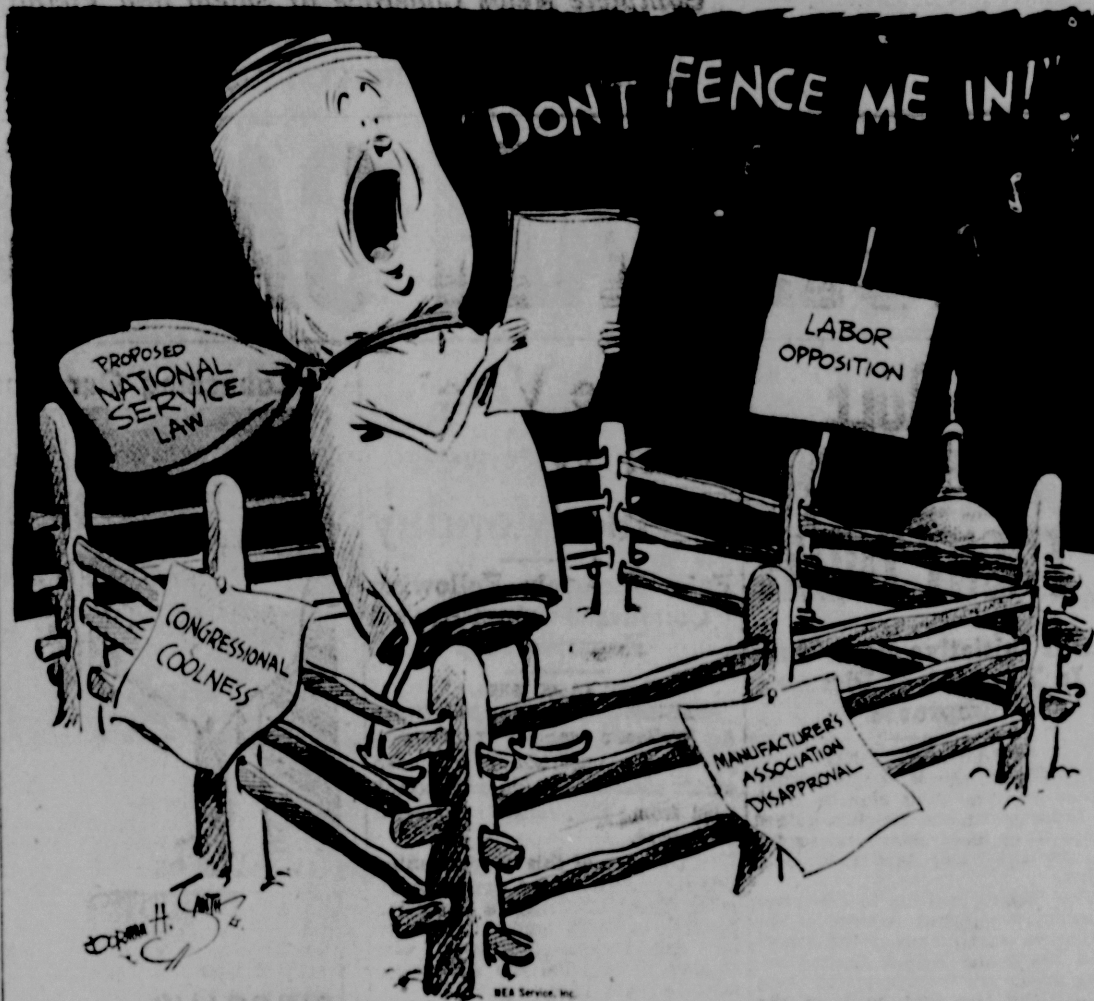

A cabinet officer is an assistant and advisor to the President, and partakes of some delegated powers of the President, who is the chief executive of the government and all its people.

We can imagine the stir in liberal circles if the President chose a secretary of commerce on the basis of his acceptability to the National Association of Manufacturers and the United States Chamber of Commerce.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Some Exercises For the Invalid

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.
SOME WEEKS ago I wrote that I supposed some day some genius would invent a group of exercises that could be performed by a sick person in bed or in a chair. I thoroughly deserved to be called down for this and am grateful to report that I have been. For the tenus had already appeared in the person of my friend and former teacher, Dr. Edward H. Ochsner, of Chicago, who published a little manual of "Exercises for Invalids and Convalescents" over twenty-five years ago.

Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

It is of great value to the invalid who is confined to bed for a long time, but who is not really sick—for instance, the fellow with a broken leg, to have something that is the equivalent in part, at least, of the exercise of the muscles that we all have as part of our daily routine.

Exercise Every Day
I suppose everyone takes some exercise every day deliberately. But we get also a good deal of unconscious exercise. You get up in the morning and go through the ritual of the bath, followed by motions with the towel that really exercise every muscle in your body. You move from chair to chair, to this part or other of the house. You walk to the bank or to lunch. You go to the movies and stand up and sit down four or five times. And so on.

These are the activities of a sedentary person, but even of these the fellow flat on his back with a broken leg is deprived. And, as a consequence, unless an effort is made to make him use his muscles he gets up weak and almost paralyzed.

Simple, Not Too Exhausting
Exercises for such invalids and convalescents should be simple, not too exhausting and capable of being performed without apparatus.

Heading the list for the person in bed or confined to a chair are breathing exercises. Many persons have never learned to breathe properly. This is true especially of those persons who have never engaged in strenuous physical labor. Such persons are very likely to use only the upper portion of their lungs in breathing—the type known as "chest breathing." These persons rarely use their diaphragms and abdominal muscles in breathing at all and for that reason do not properly fill the lower portion of their lungs with an degree of regularity.

In order to breathe properly, the lower portion of the lungs should be first filled with air. If one has accustomed himself to faulty breathing, it is sometimes rather difficult to learn the right method. One of the easiest ways to learn this correctly is to stand bare-chested, or sit if necessity demands, before a large mirror, then by bringing the abdominal muscles outward and later the chest above one will be able to fill the lungs completely. This exercise should be done several times a day in front of a mirror until the right method has been correctly learned and established as a habit.

Other simple exercises described by Dr. Ochsner which can be performed even in bed are:
Stand or sit erect, heels together, breathe naturally through nose. Right hand closed on chest, push out horizontally forward, steadily and vigorously as far as you can. Draw back to chest vigorously. Repeat five times with each arm.

Raise leg to horizontal with knee bent at first, then straighten knee. Repeat with alternate leg 5 times each.

Close fists on chest. Raise arms upward as far as possible, return to first position. Repeat five times. Stand, or sit erect. Rotate head from right to left five times, making as large a circle as possible

Repeat in opposite direction five times each.

Quakers And Akron Kenmore Rain Baskets As Salem Wins

Fans See Red-Hot Contest As Salem Takes Ninth 68-58

It rained baskets last night in the Salem High school gym as the Quakers dumped through 30 field goals and eight fouls to defeat a sizzling Akron Kenmore quintet 68-58 in one of the wildest and wooliest cage exhibitions ever seen on the local floor.

When two fast-breaking, free-shooting scholastic outfits score 126 points in 32 minutes of play—an average just shy of four points per minute—you can go home assured that you've seen basketball at close range.

Although Salem led all the way and Akron only seriously threatened once—in the middle of the third period when the score stood 34-31—the Quakers were hard pressed after the initial period.

Coach Bob Miller's lads chalked up their ninth win in 11 games by stepping into a quick 10-2 lead in the first three minutes. Akron never could surpass that margin.

At the end of the quarter it was 16-9 and Salem slipped one point in the second as the half ended with them leading 30-24. Seventeen points per team in the third didn't change matters and it was 47-41 as the final started.

A 21 point blast—their best of the evening—increased the difference in the final as Akron tallied 17.

To put a finger on the star of the game would be a hard task. Jerry Hess, Akron forward, dumped through more points than anyone else with his 23 markers, but his floor game could hardly be called superior to that exhibited by Salem's Mutt Schaeffer, Walt Brian, Jim Appedisan and Norm Smith. Besides working well on the floor, Schaeffer scored 20 points, Brian 17 and Appedisan 13.

For Akron, Phil Heib lived up to his vaunted reputation and caged 15 points, besides doing some top-notch rebound work. Taller than his two Salem contenders for the bouncing oval, Heib had the edge but still encountered trouble more than half the time.

Another lanky Akronite, Dale Spikerman, turned in a good show, collecting 13 points and doing some neat work under the boards. The loss of Ray Baker, starting guard, in the fourth period dealt the Kenmore lads a severe blow, but his replacement, Jim Bittner, did a creditable job in the final few minutes.

The game told the story of what a pair of fast breaks pitted against each other can do. Up and down the floor like demons, the two aggregations had the crowd hysterical with excitement and kept the scorekeepers busy.

Salem's fast break, working even more profitably since Walt Brian is staying back for ball handling, moved down the floor with greater ease than Akron's.

Picking out their men after they were under the basket and not as they approached it, the Quakers were able to move the ball with lightning like speed without having to move men equally as fast.

The rebounding of Mutt Schaeffer and the amazing accuracy of Walt Brian were probably the high spots of the Salem evening. Schaeffer, held to a lonely pair of field goals in the first half, went basketward in the last two periods to make his total.

In the third he dumped in four straight Salem two-pointers, all from directly beneath the hoop.

Brian cut loose with hoopers from around the foul line on several occasions and twice dumped the oval through the hoop from a corner spot under the overhanging track. A majority of his shots swished through without disturbing the cords.

Salem collected on only eight of 18 free throws and Akron hit seven of their 17 tries. From the floor Salem made 26 of 30 goals from under or near the hoop, while four were on long set shots. Akron hit two from far out and 22 close.

Tuesday the Quakers face Alliance on the home floor and then journey to East Liverpool Friday for a try at the Potters on their new home court. Both dropped games to Salem previously this season.

Golden Wedding Pictures Hobby of College Dean

LARAMIE, Wyo.—Dean J. A. Hill, wool expert who is an instructor in the college of agriculture at the University of Wyoming, believes that the longer married persons live together, the more they grow to love.

That's the basis for his hobby, which is collecting pictures of couples celebrating their golden wedding anniversaries, or better.

Dean Hill says he doesn't remember just how he did start collecting anniversary pictures, but he admits that it serves at least one useful purpose—that of keeping in touch with friends, "many of whom I wouldn't hear from unless they send along a picture once in awhile."

He says he's going to "close the books" whenever he runs across a couple who has been married "for 100 years."

YANKEES BOUGHT BY COLORFUL TRIO

MacPhail, Topping, Webb Take Over 96.88 Per Cent Of Club Ownership

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—The oft-rumored sale of the New York Yankees, baseball's most powerful empire, has materialized with purchase of the club and its vast holdings by one of the most colorful combinations in the major leagues.

Col. Larry S. MacPhail, former president of the Brooklyn Dodgers; Capt. Daniel R. Topping, owner of the Brooklyn Football Tigers, and Del E. Webb, millionaire head of an oil construction company in Phoenix, Ariz., yesterday bought 96.88 per cent of the club's stock.

The price was an estimated $2,800,000 for the Yankee property, including the club's minor league chain comprised in part by Newark, Kansas City, Birmingham and Norfolk. The deal also takes in Yankee stadium and the Ruppert stadiums in Newark and Kansas City.

Nearly 400 Players Almost 400 players, 269 in the armed services, go with the deal.

Mrs. Joseph Halloran and Mrs. J. Basil McGuire, nieces of the late Col. Jacob Ruppert, and Miss Helen Winthrop Weynatt, a friend, received $2,500,000 for their 3.12 per cent while the other 10 per cent, representing about $300,000, was bought from Edward G. Barrow, George E. Ruppert, brother of Jacob, did not sell his 3.12 per cent of the stock.

While MacPhail takes over Barrow's throne as president and general manager of the Yankees, Barrow will remain chairman of the board of directors.

MacPhail said Joe McCarthy would continue as manager and George Weiss would be retained as manager of the farm system.

Since the death of Ruppert in January, 1939, there have been many persons reported interested in buying the Yankees. James Parley, former postmaster general, and James Cox, ex-governor of Ohio, were assertedly interested.

Not Overly Optimistic MacPhail, famous for his attempt to kidnap the Kaiser in the first World war, expects to be put on the Army inactive list Feb. 10 when his leave expires.

MacPhail asserted the transaction does not reflect optimism on his part about 1945 baseball "unless Washington takes away the stigma it has justly placed on 4-F athletes."

"They'd better slow up a little on 4-F's and decide what to do with a lot of 1-A's they've got now."

MacPhail disclosed the transaction received official sanction of the advisory council consisting of President Will Harridge of the American league, Ford Frick, president of the National league, and Leslie M. O'Connor.

GOSHEN HIGH DROPS BELOIT CAGERS 31-26

Goshen High chalked up a victory over Beloit last night, 31-26 on the Beloit floor.

Mercer's 12 points paced the winners and Scott's eight were high for the losers.

The Goshen reserves took a thrilling preliminary in a three minute overtime period, 19-15.

Goshen plays at Fairfield Tuesday night.

Own the Yankees

Leland S. MacPhail, top, and Dan Topping are two of the new three-man syndicate which purchased the New York Yankees. Del E. Webb of Phoenix, Ariz., wealthy contractor, is the third owner.

Chasing Goats Is Good Exercise, Marine Learn

A PACIFIC BASE—Fifty-four Marine veterans of Saipan admit their fight against the Japanese was tough, but assert their war against wild goats here was, in some ways, tougher. The goats were destroying pasture and hastening erosion on the island and the Marines were assigned the job of wiping them out.

The invasion of goat land led into country more rugged than the veterans had ever seen. One group of six Marines, separated from the main party, traveled over trails even the goats had abandoned as unsafe, spending two days and two nights in cold, gray cloud mists without food or water.

The record chalked up in the goat war was 319 dead and an un-scored number of probables.

After returning to the comparative comforts of the main camp, one Marine explained: "What goats we couldn't shoot, we ran to death."

STAR STUDDED BOMBERETTES, CAGE CHAMPS, CAN DOUBLE FOR SHOW GALS

By RAYMOND JOHNSON

NEW YORK—Paced by Alline Banks Pate, considered the greatest woman court operative in America, the Vultee Bomberettes, national A.A.U. girls' basketball champion, invaded the east for the first time this week seeking new fields to conquer.

Formerly the Convair Bomberettes, the girls hail from Nashville, Tenn., are Amazonian in appearance, averaging well above six feet and could easily double for a set of show girls in any Broadway hit.

The Bomberettes have never been beaten since they won the title at St. Joseph, Mo., last March, but they've had several close calls. They were forced to overcome a 10-point deficit in the last half to edge out the Little Rock Dr. Peppers.

Their season's record of 12 victories extended their winning streak to 24 in a row. They have tallied 812 points to 408 for their opponents this winter.

All American Caliber In addition to Alline Pate, center and five times an All-America choice, the team includes Margaret Petty, three times All-America guard and Doris Weems, also a guard, who was placed on the 1944 second All-America team.

Then there's Mary Jane Powell, an aggressive player rated as one of the nation's top forwards, who has helped the team to win all but seven of their 67 games in three and a half seasons they have been in existence. Three of their defeats came in overtime games.

"The Bomberettes are stronger than they were a year ago," says Coach Billy Hudson, who has piloted teams to the national tournament five times. "We have our team practically intact. The two players we lost have been replaced by Virginia Hamilton and Lucille Gentry. They give us some capable reserve strength that we lacked in the past."

"I feel that we have better than a 50-50 chance of repeating in the national," Hudson continued, "but much depends on the breaks of the draw. We have a team well grounded in tournament play and this experience counts heavily in our favor."

However, the competition is keener this year, and it's a rocky road the Bomberettes have to travel in defense of their national honors, but they are confident they can repeat.

That confidence may keep the A.A.U. crown in the south.

POTTERS DEFEAT TORONTO, 47-39

Take Win Out of Town With Little Trouble; Ahead from Start

TORONTO, Jan. 26.—East Liverpool's Potters defeated the Toronto outfit here last night, 47-39, after leading from the start.

The Potters, minus the services of Bob Mullen, leading forward, were a bit slow starting but led 14-9 at the close of the initial frame. The second saw the victors pile up 15 points while Toronto got 10 to make the margin 10 points by halftime.

Toronto put on the steam in the final two frames, closing the gap as the last period began. The margin was too large, however.

Dick Horton led the way from his center position with 19 points. Jim Kelly and Harris each collected 10.

East Liverpool's reserves won the opener with a 43-24 count.

By HANK IBA Oklahoma A. & M. Coach

Bob Kurland, our seven foot center, just recently gave me my biggest basketball thrill.

Oklahoma A. & M.'s All America this season switched from a goal tender to a man-to-man defensive player.

There was much question as to whether he would be truly effective.

The Oklahoma City all-college tournament was big test. Kurland on successive nights faced six-foot Marlin Hicks of Baylor, the six-foot eight-inch All America Bill Henry of Rice and six-foot 10-inch George Kok of Arkansas. All are tremendous scorers, especially Henry.

It was a battle of tree-top centers. Kurland shut out all three from the field. Henry got four free throws, Kok one in the semi-final and final games. Henry scored 55 in the tournament, to break the three-game scoring mark, running and before and after he faced Kurland.

Tall Bob picked up 30 points while turning in the superlative defensive job that won him the tournament's No. 1 star award.

Scoring Is Evenly Divided As Columbiana Takes 11th

Splitting the point-gathering assignments up like brothers, the high-flying Columbiana Clippers last night continued down the home stretch of the basketball season unbeaten in 11 tries by whipping a bewildered and outclassed East Palestine outfit, 60-29, on the Bulldogs' home floor.

Pressed somewhat in the initial frame, which ended 13-9 in their favor, the Clippers marched on to lead 24-11 by halftime and collected 21 in the third to forge ahead 45-13 as the final period began.

With the starting five dividing points almost evenly, the Columbiana squad turned in one of the best offensive showings of the season.

Harry Case led the way with 13 points, while Larry Keck and Harry Hollinger each got 12. Keith Laughlin 10, and Bill Newell nine.

The game was exactly average for Columbiana. In 11 games they have averaged 60 points and opponents have averaged 29, just the way the test finished.

Remaining unbeaten through a tough 11-game march puts the Clippers to the front in the state's Class B circles and also places them on the top of the heap of the Tri-County league ratings. The game last night, however, was not a league contest.

Next Friday the Clippers face a stiff Tri-County loop try at Sebring.

The Columbiana reserves won their preliminary battle 39-24 to mark up their eleventh straight.

Freshmen Win Third, 32-26, From Jr. High

Salem High school's Freshmen were a little too much for an All-Star Junior High quintet in last night's preliminary at the High school gym as the Frosh chalked up their third win in four tries, 32-26.

Cain led the way for the victors with 10 points and B. Faulkner of the younger lads also collected 10.

Joe Kelley coaches the Junior High outfit and Frank J. Tarr the Freshmen.

trucking facilities posed a bottleneck in delivery of coal from stockpiles to plants.

Mayor Burke said while he did not know what the industrial coal situation was in Cleveland, "the city itself has adequate reserves and we expect to sell or loan some of our coal to war plants in need."

A 16-state embargo on all but war material shipments tightened the existing Ohio coal shortage as users guarded their waning supplies. Severe weather taxed natural gas supplies.

A survey indicated that schools, with the possible exception of Youngstown, had sufficient fuel on hand for the immediate future, but operators of amusement places were uncertain how they would fare under the Solid Fuel administration's directives.

Gov. Lausche after a conference in Columbus with Director of Education Kenneth C. Ray, President Howard L. Bevis of Ohio State university and State Librarian Walter Brahm recommended:

1. Reduce generating power used to illuminate electric signs.

2. Reduce heat in buildings used for display purposes such as museums.

School heads in Cleveland, Akron and Cincinnati reported sufficient coal supplies for the present crisis but added fuel available was below normal. One parochial school in Akron reported only a three-day supply.

S. R. Creps of the Youngstown school system said bins were depleted there because no coal had been delivered during the recent cold spell.

College athletic officials said coal restrictions would have effect on next week's basketball schedule of 19 games. Many college gymnasiums are connected with central heating systems.

WLB TOOL AND DIE COMMITTEE RESIGNS

CLEVELAND, Jan. 27.—The seven member tool and die committee of the Regional War Labor board has resigned en masse.

J. J. Murphy, committeeman who represented the American Federation of Labor, said yesterday the resignation was in protest against the board's action "in setting rates for tool and die workers in the Cleveland area below those it had recommended."

"Since the tool and die committee was organized as a fact-finding body," declared Murphy, "and the action of the board left them no discretionary powers in the interpretation of data, the committee felt powerless to carry out its assignments, and at the same time give fair representation on tool and die rates to labor and industry alike."

Regional WLB Director Frederick Bullen confirmed the committee's resignation and praised it for its "very useful service."

Chairman of the committee was G. B. Carson of Portsmouth. C. W. Peck, H. A. Tripp, of Toledo; K. N. Knowlton, Cincinnati; P. C. Molter, Cleveland, and H. C. Reynolds, Dayton.

It wasn't until Amy Lowell was 28 that she discovered that poetry was her natural mode of expression and she was 36 before her first volume was published.

trucking facilities posed a bottleneck in delivery of coal from stockpiles to plants.

Mayor Burke said while he did not know what the industrial coal situation was in Cleveland, "the city itself has adequate reserves and we expect to sell or loan some of our coal to war plants in need."

A 16-state embargo on all but war material shipments tightened the existing Ohio coal shortage as users guarded their waning supplies. Severe weather taxed natural gas supplies.

A survey indicated that schools, with the possible exception of Youngstown, had sufficient fuel on hand for the immediate future, but operators of amusement places were uncertain how they would fare under the Solid Fuel administration's directives.

Gov. Lausche after a conference in Columbus with Director of Education Kenneth C. Ray, President Howard L. Bevis of Ohio State university and State Librarian Walter Brahm recommended:

1. Reduce generating power used to illuminate electric signs.
2. Reduce heat in buildings used for display purposes such as museums.

School heads in Cleveland, Akron and Cincinnati reported sufficient coal supplies for the present crisis but added fuel available was below normal. One parochial school in Akron reported only a three-day supply.

S. R. Creps of the Youngstown school system said bins were depleted there because no coal had been delivered during the recent cold spell.

College athletic officials said coal restrictions would have effect on next week's basketball schedule of 19 games. Many college gymnasiums are connected with central heating systems.

WLB TOOL AND DIE COMMITTEE RESIGNS

CLEVELAND, Jan. 27.—The seven member tool and die committee of the Regional War Labor board has resigned en masse.

J. J. Murphy, committeeman who represented the American Federation of Labor, said yesterday the resignation was in protest against the board's action "in setting rates for tool and die workers in the Cleveland area below those it had recommended."

"Since the tool and die committee was organized as a fact-finding body," declared Murphy, "and the action of the board left them no discretionary powers in the interpretation of data, the committee felt powerless to carry out its assignments, and at the same time give fair representation on tool and die rates to labor and industry alike."

Regional WLB Director Frederick Bullen confirmed the committee's resignation and praised it for its "very useful service."

Chairman of the committee was G. B. Carson of Portsmouth, C. W. Peck H. A. Tripp, of Toledo; K. N. Knowlton, Cincinnati; P. C. Moller, Cleveland, and H. C. Reynolds, Dayton.

It wasn't until Amy Lowell was 38 that she discovered that poetry was her natural mode of expression and she was 36 before her first volume was published.

The War Today

brutalized Nazi fanatics, may have to be put in internment camps for fear that if they are turned loose they will start ravaging the country. Troops who've been used to massacring civilians and prisoners of war won't hesitate at anything.

The housing problems will be titanic, especially in view of the lack of building materials and labor. The food situation will be acute, as will that of all other supplies. The Allied countries must come first for general rehabilitation. The Germans will have to be fed and clothed and housed, but they'll have to wait until the last for everything beyond bare necessities.

Then the Allies will have the job of repatriating the many millions of Allied nationals whom Hitler imported into the Reich for slavery. There also are large numbers of prisoners of war interned in the Reich.

One could go on piling up the grief until there was a list as long as your arm. The total is that the Allied military government will have a mountain to move, and that will take not only faith but mighty hard and expert work. So far as one can see now, there will have to be Allied military governments in every sizable town of Germany, and they'll have to be responsible for everything, pending the establishment of a brand new German regime.
